

Northwest Territories Population January 2022

On January 1, 2022, Statistics Canada estimated that 45,640 people were living in the Northwest Territories, an increase of 0.7% from the previous year. Between January 1, 2021 and January 1, 2022, the population in the Northwest Territories increased by 317 persons. The components of natural increase during this period consisted of 548 births and 261 deaths, resulting in a net increase of 287 persons. Inter-provincial migration accounted for 2,128 persons moving into the Northwest Territories from other provinces and territories, while 2,299 persons moved away, representing a net loss of 171 persons. Internationally, there was a net in-migration of 201 persons.

Historically, Alberta has accounted for the largest number of net inter-provincial migrants for the NWT. In 2021, 630 persons moved to the NWT from Alberta, while 861 persons moved from the territory to Alberta, resulting in the highest net loss among other provinces and territories of 231 persons. Ontario, on the other hand, made the largest net contribution of new migrants to the Northwest Territories with a net gain of 375 persons (Figure 1).

The detailed components of population change for the Northwest Territories since 2011 are presented in Table 2.

These population estimates are based on the 2016 Census, adjusted for census net undercoverage. Data may be revised over the coming years, and it is possible that trends will change as a result of future revisions.

Note: Net International represents the net total of all Immigrants, Emigrants, Returning Canadians, Non-Permanent Residents and Individuals Temporarily Abroad.
Error of Closure represents the difference in population change as measured by the individual components of growth and that observed using 2016, 2011 and 2006 census-based population estimates.
